BRIEF ABSTRACT OF LETTER

Recommend that the present monthly grants in aid of the 3 mission High Schools in the State may be raised to Rs 300 with a view ^{to enable them} to alter the School hours from morning to mid-day.

NOTES AND ORDERS

The following are the 3 mission High Schools in the State

- 1 London mission High School, Bangalore
- 2 Wesleyan Do — Do —
- 3 Do — — — Mysore

Serial
No 1

All these 3 Schools were in receipt of a monthly grant of Rs 200^{each} till July 1902, but with effect from that date the grant to the London Mission High School has been raised to Rs 250 while the other two continue to receive only Rs 200.

2 ^{At the instance of the I. G. of Education,} The Mission now propose to alter the School hours from morning to mid-day and request that the monthly grants may be raised to Rs 350 in each case to meet the increased cost.

3 The I. G. of S. P. states that he inspected these Schools in July 04 but was not satisfied with their state. The London Mission High School was reported to be the best of the three. The I. G. attributes this state of inefficiency to the morning School hours and thinks that they will become successful if the School hours are changed to mid-day. He therefore recommends that the grants to each of these High Schools may be raised to Rs 300 with effect from 1-1-1905 on the conditions specified -

Sir P N Krishna Murti said that all were agreed that the change of school hours to midday hours was desirable in the interests of sound education By that change the time given for instruction would be increased to nearly five hours a day, whereas at present only about three hours and a half were allotted Mr Rice explained that for some forms after noon classes were held every other day Both Mr Rees and Mr Rice said that the Missions High Schools served a class of students who were as a rule poorer than the pupils of Government High Schools, and many of them were dependent for their food on ~~varans~~ and bhikshana, and morning hours were more convenient for them They therefore feared there would be a falling off in attendance and fees The Mission institutions had many difficulties to contend against, the chief being the competition of well-equipped Government institutions and the fact that several of their teachers had other employments after 11 O'clock and were therefore able to serve in the Mission schools on very low pay When the school hours were changed higher pay would have to be given to all the teachers If under these circumstances the attendance and fees suffered, the loss would be too heavy for the Missions to bear Should their fears prove true, would Government kindly make up the loss by increasing the grants-in-aid?

The fees even after they had been increased lately were very low. The Dewan Sahib replied that he did not think it probable that their attendance and fees would suffer, but in any case Government would guide themselves by some general principles mentioned by Mr Bhabha and which he said are practically now followed like the following in determining the grants-in-aid (1) That the grant-in-aid should not exceed in any case one-third of the total cost and (2) that it should not exceed half the net cost, the Government and the management as a rule sharing equally the net cost. Mr Rice and Mr Pees accepted these principles with thankfulness and said that on this understanding the Missions would make their best efforts not only to alter the school hours but also improve the efficiency of their schools.

Mr Rice asked if it was true that Government intended to abolish the High School classes of the Central College and establish a Government High School under a separate Head Master in the neighbourhood of the Central College. He also asked if it was intended to raise the Municipal English School to a High School. Mr Rice added that he would not object to the Municipal English School being raised to a High School, but he would not like a separate Government High School to be established close to the Central College and the Mission High Schools. The Dewan Sahib replied that it was not intended to add High School classes at present to the Municipal English school, nor was there an immediate idea of abolishing the High School classes, though Government had some idea of adding to the number of optional subjects taught in the Central College and having one fully equipped College for the State. Mr Rice asked if in the event of the High School classes of the Central College being abolished, Government would not encourage the Mission High Schools by desisting altogether from opening a separate Government High School in Bangalore and allowing the student population to go to the Mission High Schools. The Dewan Sahib replied that the decision of Government would in such a contingency depend upon the efficiency of the Mission schools and the confidence they would inspire in the mind of the public that the education given in the Mission schools was as good as that which might be expected from a Government High School and other local circumstances at the time.

Mr. Rees referred to the policy of Government opening their own girls' schools in places where Mission Schools had previously been established. The Mission did not fear the competition of other aided schools, but it did not think that the competition of Government Schools side by side with their own was fair to the Mission Schools that had been established first in a place like Maddagiri. The Dewan Sahib explained that there were special reasons for having a Government Girls' School in Maddagiri, but he would lay down principles for future guidance which would prevent the competition of recently established Government Schools with old established Mission Schools in future. Mr. Rees contended that such a definite policy was required in the interests of aided education, as the Mission by establishing its own schools first called forth local efforts to establish other schools, and so long as the latter were only aided schools the Mission could not object. But when these schools were actually taken over by Government and converted into Government institutions, the Mission Schools suffered

16 The additional grant of 1250 Rs. represents the present bonus work in the three missionary High Schools, for the State are from 7 till 11 AM with a break in the middle. The 2½ of Rs. has light to show that the time this available, not sufficient and most institutions are and therefore very efficient for the things of hours they require more financial help. I discussed the facts with Mr. Rees, and Mr. Rees in the presence of Mr. Sheller and the reasons they light forward were fair - the present some of the masters are employed elsewhere and get some remuneration for their work - If they have to work for a longer period in the school they naturally claim a larger remuneration.

The principle on which such grants are regulated is that it does not exceed ~~one~~ ^{one-third} of the total expenditure for maintaining the institution - This principle is acted upon in this re-commendation which is figuring as under:-

Rs 50 to the London Mission High School Bangalore

100 to the Wesleyan Mission High School Bangalore

100 to the Wesleyan Mission High School Mysore

This measure may be graciously sanctioned

Increase of grant to the three Mission High Schools in the State

From the Inspector General of Education Mysore N 526-297 dated 14th Dec 1904

Recommendations that the present monthly grant of Rs 300 to the London Mission High School may be increased to Rs 350 and the Wesleyan and Mysore Mission High Schools may be increased to Rs 300 each.

The following are the three Mission High Schools in the State —

- (1) London Mission High School Bangalore
- (2) Wesleyan do do
- (3) Do do Mysore

All these three schools were in receipt of a monthly grant of Rs 200 each till July 1904. The London Mission High School has been increased to Rs 250* while the other two continue to receive only Rs 200.

2 At the instance of the Inspector General of Education the Mission now propose to alter the school hour from morning to midday and request that the monthly grants may be raised to Rs 350 in each case to meet the increased cost.

3 The Inspector General of Education states that he inspected these schools in July 1904 but was not satisfied with their state. The London Mission High School is reported to be the best of the three. The Inspector General attributes this state of inefficiency to the morning school hours and thinks that they will become successful if the school hours are changed to midday. He therefore recommends that the grants to each of the High Schools may be raised to Rs 300 with effect from 1st January 1905 on the conditions specified.

4 The additional cost to Government is Rs 250 per mensem or Rs 3000 per annum.

5 The Inspector General requests that the sum of Rs 1500 required for the six months from January to June 1905 of the current year may be sanctioned as an additional grant as he is unable to suggest a reappropriation from the sanctioned budget.

6 The following is a copy of the Notes of an interview held on the 17th September 1904 between the Dewan the Revd D Rees and the Revd E P Rice on the subject of changing the school hours from morning to midday at which the Inspector General of Education was present.

7 S R P N Krishna Murthy said that all were agreed that the change of school hours to midday hours was desirable in the interests of sound education. By that change the time given for instruction would be increased to nearly five hours a day whereas at present only about three hours and a half were allotted. They therefore feared there would be a falling off in attendance and fees. The Mission institutions had many difficulties to contend against the chief being the competition of well equipped Government institutions and the fact that several of their teachers had other employment after 11 o'clock and were therefore unable to serve in the Mission Schools on very low pay. Mr Rice asked if it was true that Government intended to abolish the High School classes of the Central College and establish a Government High School under a separate Head Master in the neighbourhood of the Central College He also asked if it was intended to raise the Municipal English School to a High School Mr Pice added that he would not object to the Municipal English School being raised to a High School, but he would not like a separate Government High School to be established close to the Central College and the Mission High Schools The Dewan Sahib replied that it was not intended to add High School classes at present to the Municipal English School nor was there any immediate idea of abolishing the High School classes though Government had some idea of adding to the number of optional subjects taught in the Central College and having one fully equipped College for the State Mr Pice asked if in the event of the High School Classes of the Central College being abolished Government would not encourage the Mission High School by desisting altogether from opening a separate Government High School in Bangalore and allowing the student population to go to the Mission High Schools The Dewan Sahib replied that the decision of Government would in such a contingency depend upon the efficiency of the Mission Schools and the confidence they would inspire in the mind of the public that the education given in the Mission Schools was as good as that which might be expected from a Government High School and other local circumstances at the time

I would submit however that in sanctioning the increased grants Government may lay down the following conditions —

- (1) That the prescribed curricula of High and Middle Schools in Mysore will be followed
- (2) That as far as possible the model time tables pre cr b ng the lessons and home work of each class in Government schools will be adopted
- (3) That the time given for religious instruction will be in addition to and not deducted from the time allotted to secular subjects in the Government curricula
- (4) That to ensure continuity of work and efficiency the High Schools will be placed under the same Principals or Headmaster who should be University men, for several years continuously

Proceedings of the Government of His Highness the Maharaja of Mysore,

Increase of Grant to the three Mission High Schools in the State to enable them to alter working hours

- (5) That the managers will so far increase the efficiency and success of their schools as to make their High Schools in no way inferior to the Government High Schools in Bangalore and Mysore

3 I request that orders may be kindly passed on the proposals contained in this letter at the earliest convenience of Government so that all the three High Schools may start work on a better system from the next school year which commences on the 9th January

From the Rev D A Rees General Superintendent of the Wesleyan Mission in Mysore to the Inspector General of Education dated Bangalore 8th November 1904

I have the honor to inform you that after careful enquiry and consideration, we are now in a position to calculate with fair accuracy the increased expenditure which will have to be incurred, if we carry out your wishes in reference to the change from morning to afternoon hours in our High Schools at Bangalore and Mysore

Before making my statement I should like to deal briefly with the general financial condition of these two institutions in relation to the aid which we receive from the Mysore Government. In the Bangalore High School, the average yearly expenditure is as follows —

	Rs
Principal at Rs 400	4 800
Salaries of Masters on present scale	6 407
Writer	240
Servants	204
Repairs and upkeep	500
Prizes	100
Scientific apparatus	100
Library	35
Contingencies	455
Total	12 841
Income from fees	4 397
Net cost	8 444

In the Mysore High School the position is as follows —

Total expenditure	12,198
Income from fees	4 787
Net cost	7,411

The change of hours will lead to the retirement of several masters who at present are serving on a comparatively small salary because they are able to hold other appointments also. The vacancies thus caused will have to be filled by men on higher salaries. Those who remain will in every case require an increasing salary as they will be engaged an hour a day more. The increased cost we find will amount roughly in each school to Rs 100 per month. There is also the possibility that the number of boys attending may diminish, in consequence of the change, and the fees decrease accordingly, but we must accept that risk. If the sum mentioned above be added to the amount of the present net cost the total in each will be, Bangalore High School Rs 9,644, and Mysore High School Rs 8,611.

Towards these sums the Mysore Government give a grant amounting to Rs 2 400 in each case leaving the Mission to provide Rs 7,244 for the Bangalore High School and Rs 6 211 for the Mysore School.

In the interview which Mr Rice and I had with the Dewan on September 17th, at which you were present, the principle enunciated by you, that the net cost of Aided High Schools should be shared equally by the Government and the private bodies carrying on the schools was accepted and the Dewan promised that as far as possible, it should be acted upon. This is the principle which prevails in British Territory, and it is admitted by all to be equitable to all parties. According to this principle the share of the Mysore Government, when the increased expenditure caused by the new arrangement is added would be, Bangalore Rs 4,822, Mysore Rs 4,305. Their present contribution in each case is Rs 2,400 only.

Increase of Grant to the three Mission High Schools in the State to enable them to alter working hours

I would not ignore the fact that the principle of the Government sharing the net cost is also coupled with a proviso that the amount of their contribution should not exceed one third of the total cost. Even on that calculation the share would amount to Bangalore (1/3 of Rs 14041) Rs 4680 and Mysore (1/3 of Rs 13398) Rs 4466.

Seeing that the disparity between the far share and the actual grant is so great I will not ask at present that they should give the full amount but I would strongly urge that the grant of each school be increased from the date of change of hours from Rs 200 to Rs 350 per month thus raising the Government contribution to Rs 4200 in the case of the Bangalore School leaving the Mission to provide Rs 5444 and after contributing the same sum to the Mysore School leaving the Mission to find Rs 4411.

In weighing the merits of this application I hope you will not overlook the fact that the London Mission Institution recently received an increase to its grant of Rs 50 per month it now receives Rs 200 per month instead of Rs 200 the amount at which the grant to each of our institutions still stands.

I trust the Government will give this matter its generous and speedy consideration and accede to our request. If intimation is given that the increased grants are sanctioned from January 1st 1905 we shall be prepared to introduce the change from the date. If however sanction is deferred to a later date we shall have to delay the change as our funds will not permit of our meeting the increased expense. If Government will aid us to the extent we have asked we have every reason to believe that these two ancient institutions among the oldest in the Province will enter upon a new era of prosperity.

With reference to your proposal that the hours of teaching in the London Mission High School should be extended from midday in accordance with the practice in Government Schools I have been making careful enquiries into the probable effects of this change upon the staff and finance of the school and I have now the honor to give you the result of this enquiry.

2. The effect upon the staff will be that eight teachers who have other occupations in the middle of the day will certainly leave the school and three new will also probably leave unless there is a substantial increase to their present salary. That there should be so large a change in the staff at the same time as there is taking place a complete change of programme and also a change of principal is unfortunate. It will for a time doubtless affect the attendance of pupils but this will probably recover itself in course of time.

3. In filling the vacancies thus occurring higher salaries will have to be offered to the new comers and those of the old staff who remain will expect a proportionate increase especially as under the new arrangement longer hours of attendance will be demanded from them and they will have to forego opportunities hitherto open of earning additional money elsewhere. I estimate the increased monthly cost in salaries of teachers and writer at Rs 100 per mensem.

4. The following tabular statement will show in parallel columns the sum at present expended and the estimated expenditure under the new arrangement —

Proceedings of the Government of His Highness the Maharaja of Mysore, Education, dated January 1905

Increase to Grant to the three Mission High Schools in the State to enable them to alter working hours

The fees entered are those obtained during the twelve months of the present year, since the enhanced rate of fees has been in force

5 It will be observed that not to mention the risk of decrease in attendance and fees, the cost of the school will be increased by some Rs 1,300 per annum. If the managers of the school are willing to face this increased expenditure it is entirely in reliance on the promise of the Dewan given spontaneously and emphatically at the interview which he accorded to Mr Rees and myself in your presence that he would reconsider the grant in aid now made to the school and in so doing would follow as clearly as possible the principles enunciated by your self and already for a considerable time in force. I understand, in the Bombay Presidency, that the State should share equally with the managers of Aided Schools the net cost of education provided that its grant should not exceed one third of the total cost.

6 On this principle the Government share at present ought to be Rs 4,410, instead of Rs 3,000 to which it has recently been raised and in future it should be Rs 5,068 per annum. This means that the monthly grant in aid should be raised to Rs 400 per mensem.

7 As our endeavour to meet the wishes of Government can only be carried out at the cost of dismissing half our staff, incurring considerable financial responsibility and running risks of loss by a falling off in attendance and fees we trust that the Government will on its part raise the grant in aid from the date of the change of hours, to not less than Rs 350 per mensem. This will be still well within the limits laid down but it will suffice to relieve the financial strain and will enable us to do much to improve the efficiency of a school that is one of the oldest in the Province and this will all be for the public benefit.

8 Permit me to point out the importance that a favorable reply should be made at as early a date as possible. If we receive positive assurance of an increase in the grant in aid from January 1905 we are prepared to make the change from the beginning of the new year. Otherwise the change must be deferred till such time as we receive the requisite Government assistance.

To the Inspector General of Education, to the Comptroller to the Government of Mysore, to the Rev D. A. Rees, General Superintendent of the Wesleyan Mission in Mysore State and the Rev E. P. Rice, Principal of the London Mission High School, Bangalore. Government Order No. 11 4701 4—Fd File No. 167 04 2 dated 26th January 1905

In the circumstances stated by the Inspector General, the Government of His Highness the Maharaja of Mysore are pleased to increase the grant of the three Mission High Schools in the State to Rs 300 each per mensem, with effect from the date on which the school hours will be changed from morning to midday, on the several conditions mentioned in the letter read above*. The additional cost required during the current year, viz., about Rs 1,250, is sanctioned as a supplemental grant to the Education State Fund Budget.

but especially the Wesleyan Mission High School in Bangalore are wanting in organisation and earnest and systematic work. I feel however that whatever the organisation and efficiency of teaching might be the present school hours from 7 to 11 A.M. with two or three afternoon lessons for about an hour each in the week for the V and VI Forms are insufficient for imparting instruction in all the subjects prescribed in the curricula. Unless five hours' instruction a day divided into six lessons is given justice cannot be done to the numerous subjects of the High and Middle School curricula. Quite apart from defects of organisation method or efficiency, for want of sufficient time the use of the work of the Mission Schools proves fruitless. I am convinced that the Mission School will never be as successful as they could be unless the schools adopt the longer midday hours. I am glad to say that the managers of all the schools see the necessity and usefulness of the alteration of hours but plead their inability to make the change from January 1905 unless Government are pleased to increase the monthly grant-in-aid to at least Rs 300 from the same date. I have carefully gone into the figures of income and expenditure of each of the schools and is placed under a further consideration and of opinion that if Government be pleased to raise the monthly grant to Rs 300 it should with the increase in the cost of the sanctioned rates of salary, which have been sanctioned from January 1901 enable the managers to alter the school hours and improve the efficiency of their schools. I strongly recommend therefore that the fixed monthly grant of these schools may be raised in each case to Rs 300 with effect from 1 January 1905. The monthly grant of the London Mission High School was raised from Rs 200 to Rs 250 from 1st July 1904 by Order No 712522-4 dated 11 March 1904.

Until the Wesleyan Mission High School receive Rs 200 each the increased cost to Government therefor from 1 January to 30 June 1905 if the increased grants are sanctioned will be as follows -

London Mission High School	Rs 200
Wesleyan Mission High School Bangalore	200
Wesleyan Mission High School Mysore	600
	Rs 1000

~~Letter~~ of 12 November 1904

With reference to your proposal that the hours of teaching in the London Mission High School should be changed from morning to midday in accordance with the practice in Government Schools, I have been making careful enquiries into the probable effects of this change upon the staff and finance of the school, and I have now the honour to give you the result of this enquiry.

2. The effect upon the staff will be that eight teachers, who have other occupations in the middle of the day will certainly leave the school, and three more will also probably leave unless there is a substantial increase to their present salary. That there should be so large a change in the staff at the same time as there is taking place a complete change of programme and also a change of Principal is unfortunate. It will for a time doubtless affect the attendance of pupils, but the will probably recover itself in time

3 In getting the prices now there is causing, higher salaries will cause the offset to the new currency, and those of the old staff will remain - and offset a proportionate increase, especially in the the new arrangement forgoes some of attendance will be demanded from them and they will have to forego opportunities in this sphere of earning additional money elsewhere. I estimate the increase in the cost in salaries of the board and water at Rs 105 per annum

4 The following tabular statement will show in parallel columns the sum at present expenditure and the estimate expenditure under the new arrangement.

6 On this principle the Government share at present ought to be Rs 4416 instead of Rs 3000 to which it has recently been raised; and in future it should be Rs 5068 per annum. This means that the monthly grant-in-aid should be raised to Rs 400 per mensem.

7. His own endeavours to meet the wishes of Government can only be carried out at the cost of dismissing half our staff, incurring considerable financial responsibility and running risks of loss by a falling off in attendance and fees, we trust that the Government will on its part raise the grant in aid from the date of the change of hours, to not less than Rs 350 per mensem. Director General

I re-emphasize my inability to show provision for the income and expenditure from the same for the period of 1904-1905. In view of the important interests involved in the hundred of pupils I request that the extra provision required for the 1904-1905 may be made for the year 1905-1906.

I would also mention that in the same year the income and expenditure for the year 1904-1905 may be made for the year 1905-1906.

(1) That the school should be maintained in a satisfactory manner.

(2) That the school should be maintained in a satisfactory manner and no part of the income in the year 1905-1906 should be allotted.

(3) That the time given for religious instruction should be in addition to and not deducted from the time allotted to secular subjects in the Government curriculum.

(4) That the school should be maintained in a satisfactory manner and no part of the income in the year 1905-1906 should be allotted.

(5) That the school should be maintained in a satisfactory manner and no part of the income in the year 1905-1906 should be allotted.

I request that orders may be issued to the school authorities to maintain the school in a satisfactory manner and no part of the income in the year 1905-1906 should be allotted.

Yours faithfully,
H. J. Bhatia
